

LA ROCA VILLAGE BLOOMS WITH NIKKI TIBBLES

News

Have you visited Liberty London and been amazed by the florist there?

This spectacular department store on Great Marlborough Street is home to a flower shop named Wild at Heart (a clear allusion to the influence of David Lynch, who directed the film of the same name), which belongs to floral artist Nikki Tibbles and is one of her three flower shops that can be found around the British capital.

Nikki's creative floral art, quintessentially English landscaping and meticulous attention to detail have established her as one of the most renowned florists in the world. She has worked for renowned fashion brands and acted as an ambassador for La Roca Village and other Villages within The Bicester Village Shopping Collection®. Thanks to her talent, Nikki has managed to turn La Roca Village into a fairy-tale space.

Taking Catalan culture as a source of inspiration – its colours, its textures, the trencadis mosaics, the people who make the most of every moment, the parks and the art of Barcelona – Nikki's creations have made the Village experience an eternal spring, with areas of peace, harmony and tranquillity. You'll find an oasis where you can rest and take a moment for yourself after a day of shopping and be surprised by fascinating fragrances, beautiful trees and impressive colours and textures.

Are you tired of winter? At La Roca Village it's spring already so come and see this magnificent installation bloom. It's a burst of life at its finest, mixed with the newly arrived collections in more than 130 boutiques from the finest fashion brands. Feel your emotions and enjoy a memorable experience.
